

Grampian Hospitals Christmas Carol Concerts In aid of CLIC Sargent

For over 30 years, the Grampian Hospitals Carol Concert Committees have been hosting annual carol concerts in aid of CLIC Sargent, enabling children and young people affected by cancer to thrive, not just survive.

Now in their 33rd year, the concerts will take place at 7:30pm on Wednesday 4th December at Elgin Town Hall, and 2:30pm on Sunday 8th December at the Aberdeen Music Hall, and will be well attended by supporters, members of the local community and music fans alike.

Join us for a spectacular afternoon of entertainment guaranteed to get you in the festive mood, and take the opportunity to Sponsor a Carol for just £50.

As a Carol Sponsor, your name or company will feature in the programme next to the carol you have chosen, showcasing your support. To take up this opportunity please contact:

“On Christmas Eve we were told they found a tumour in Findlay’s chest, the size of a grapefruit. They told us it was crushing down onto his right lung.

We were in shock, denial, disbelief – it was serious and we thought Findlay might die. We had no idea what to say – to each other, to his brother and sister, our parents, and what do we tell Findlay?

We had to go to Glasgow for treatment. CLIC Sargent helped us get accommodation at Ronald McDonald house.

Then they helped us get the financial help we needed. The costs were really adding up for us. Aside from transport we were spending lots of money on the day for food. Findlay doesn’t like hospital food, so we were getting whatever we could for him. CLIC Sargent also got us a grant to help with our costs.”

“CLIC Sargent helped us get the support we needed.”
